MELTA expands its international network

The Malaysian English Language Teaching Association has signed a memorandum of understanding with 21st Century English Education Media, China Daily Media Group which is based in Beijing. This will be MELTA's first partnership with an organisation in China.

The MoU proposes collaboration to improve the quality of English language teaching within the People's Republic of China and Malaysia, through events such as conferences and research activities. MELTA will also be working with other ELT associations on a platform set up by China Daily and the Shanghai International Studies University for fostering closer ties and knowledge sharing.

It is hoped that this new partnership supports MELTA in realising its goal of advancing English language education while providing its members with new opportunities for continuing professional development.

MELTA is a not-for-profit organisation which is committed to the promotion of English language education in Malaysia. The association was founded in 1958 and is the oldest English language teaching association in Malaysia.
