

CALL FOR ARTICLES

The Malaysian English Language Teaching Association hopes to publish an anthology of narratives by Malaysian English language teachers.

If you are an English language teacher with a story to tell, we would like to hear from you.

MELTA would like to invite you to share your personal experiences on any one of the following themes:

- Tales of resilience from the English language classroom. This may include stories on:
 - innovations in the face of adversity
 - initiatives to help students overcome challenges
 - creativity in engaging with and motivating students
- Stories highlighting techniques and teaching tips. These may include narrations of:
 - teaching and learning practices in and beyond the classroom
 - routines or procedures which have helped with managing teaching- learning experiences
- Challenges and success stories related to teaching during the Movement Control Order. This may include stories on:
 - struggles in managing online teaching
 - challenges with communicating with students and how you managed to overcome them

Guidelines:

We invite submission of essays based on personal experiences, presented to inspire and offer hope to classroom practitioners. All submissions must be carefully edited by adhering to the following guidelines:

1. Text should be submitted using the Microsoft Word in customary manuscript format (double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman). You are required to append your contact information and a bio data between 80 to 100 words at the end of the text.
2. The text should be between 800 to 1000 words in length. Editors may contact you to make revisions to your article.

If you are inspired, please submit your article to admin@melta.org.my.
In the Subject line: Attn- Director of Publications, MELTA

The deadline for the submission is 31st August 2020.

We look forward to reading your stories and sharing them with our audience.
