‘Why are our Pisa scores leaning low?’

BFM Podcast, 6 December 2023

The Programme for International Student Assessment (PISA) scores are out, and lo and behold, Malaysia's scores have dropped. A bit of background: the assessment measures reading, maths, and science literacy amongst 15-year-olds. So we explore what our low scores mean, in terms of how we're preparing our students for higher education and for life.

Listen to the interview with MELTA President, Assoc. Prof. Dr Ramesh Nair
